

KERRY SANO

Motorcycle Mechanic
Desmoto Sport
San Francisco, California

Kerry always wanted to know how to work on cars and had the perfect opportunity to learn when someone totaled her BMW 2002. She repaired the damages herself during a class on auto painting. When she was 22, Kerry received a scholarship to attend the NASCAR Technical Institute in Mooresville, North Carolina. According to Kerry, she wanted to build race car engines, but with her "jaded southern experience" she had no desire to live or work in NC, where NASCAR is essentially located. She was happy to move back to San Francisco after school, where she works at an independent motorcycle shop that specializes in Italian bikes. Kerry's main source of transportation is a blue Honda CBI, and she also rides dirt bikes and races dirt track. Desmoto Sport is located at 220 9th St.
